The school year has drawn to a close and we invite you to take a walk with us down Central Way:

What's my locker combination? Do we have history or English next? Is this test day? These questions and many others were heard constantly around the halls of A.C.H.S. From the minute one got on the bus at dawn, and yelled at the bus driver to turn on the heater, till that "welcome bell" rang to tell us that school was out, work and fun were experienced by the faculty and students. But studying wasn't all we did. Photography, art, rifle, math, pep, archery, FFA, and Rekomemoh were the clubs that broadened special interests. "Where's those greyhounds!" could be heard from that roaring pep club. Bi-monthly chapel programs brought us good talks from ministers of surrounding churches.

The sound of happy voices, the spirit of good sports, our assembly programs, clubs, studies, and the molding of our ideals and inspirations, all blended into high school experiences that we remember as "THE CENTRAL WAY."

To mold us into what we should be is the task of these subjects—the ones that form our way of developing personality and character.

Weekly sessions with "Our Times" helped social studies pupils keep pace with the history being made today in the Near East and Europe. We learned we needed to become skilled in writing, reading, and spelling, in order to measure up to a more demanding world; thus English still grew in importance. Great literature, a "bonus" of the English-literature course, rounded out our appreciation of the arts, which was furthered by the music and art deportments, while some embarked on the language of Latin; cutting yet another facet in the Central way of learning.

Several pupils know the meaning of Ego amo te in Mrs. Stucky's Latin class.

Speech pupils Jane Uhrick, Mark Ripley, Karen Reed, and Ron Gerber chose Citizenship for their topics when they spoke at the November PTA meeting.

Practicing what we learned in class was our method of carrying out good citizenship. Four social studies pupils collaborated on Citizenship Day speeches for the PTA, and seven more became "public servants" for Central's own mock national election. Thanksgiving traditions were again observed with the FFA's eleven "good will" baskets and assembly, plus the posters made by grade pupils. Mid-December saw the Home Ec. department launch a week-long campaign for better breakfasts, completing this segment of the Central "Good Citizenship" cycle.

To Plan a future

Who knows what profession will branch off from taking a subject in commerce? It may be anything from secretarial or accountant work to journalism, especially for those racers who do their hatrodding on typewriters!

This department opens to Centralites when they become juniors, taking at least an hour of most upperclassmen's time with typing or bookkeeping.

Bookkeeping is another of the essential commercial subjects. Miss Cornett instructs this 11-12 grade class.

Mr. Fruth gives pointers to Richard Hirschy for improving his typing speed and accuracy.

In typing I class, Lloyd Zimmerman receives instructions from Miss Cornett.

Career

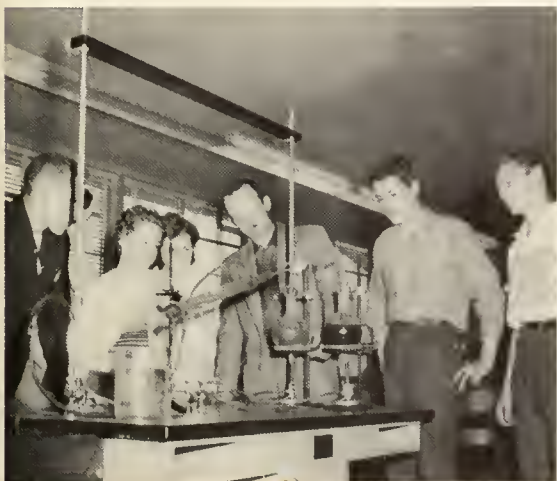

Typical frash science projects such as leaf and insect collecting, interest many pupils enough to take physics and chemistry when they became juniors and seniors. This year was "chemistry year," for physics took its turn in '55-'56 os on olternate course. Science is o good faundotion for many types of careers, and attracted over 250 pupils this year.

Lorry Foreman names port of his biology insect collection to Mabel Bowers and Bob Brown.

"Give a man an idea that burns inside him, and he will express himself well" was one self-made man's viewpoint of promoting initiative and self-reliance. But learning how by practicing is still the best way. In speech, a pupil develops an easy speaking manner and poise by practicing the "real thing" weekly before his critical classmates. Drivers' education turns out capable drivers from pupils who might not have had the time to spend studying technique. The Home Ec. department adds to a girl's homemaking ability by concentrating on the new ways of preparing food and making a good home.

One of the things school does is simply bring us together; we find new friends, join outside activities, and shape much of our social life by just coming to Central.

These snaps picture the Central Way of developing friendliness and sociability. It results in a feeling of "togetherness" that lasts long after Graduation Day.

Going to church where one betters himself for adulthood and the future, is a must for most Centralites.

Many Remember . . .

healthy minds and bodies

There must be four parts to every ideal of fitness that is "The Central Way": mental, spiritual, social, and physical.

Yes, sports are an important part, and can contribute much to Central if everyone participates. Both freshman and sophomore boys and girls were required to take physical education, while upperclassmen participated by way of intramurals and varsity sports.

Track as a spring sport is beginning to shine as a pepper-upper during the home stretch of the school year. The new track field thus benefited not just the varsity teammates in practice, but the whole physical education program.

ACTIVITIES

Clubs

Student Government

Extracurricular activities lend extra spark to school life and so prompt us to become helpful in community activities and to mingle with the groups interested in a common topic.

The PTA is active in helping parents, teachers, and pupils to work together so the Central way can be improved even more.

Student groups help assure the safety of the school pupils getting on and off the busses and coming to the school from town; promote student government; and assist in remodeling and expanding the library to accommodate a growing school.

There are the three bands, the chorus and its auxiliary ensemble groups to develop musical interests and provide more than a passing interest in the arts. Also there are seven clubs, which meet on Club Day, a half hour period each Friday, to find one's own special hobby interests.

First appearances for the junior band come in November.

The senior Sixty-one filled out an active schedule by playing in five out of six contests and by playing at all home games, plus some extra performances at the November PTA meeting, the County Music Festival, Manore Community Days, and the coronation of the Cen-Trails King and Queen.

Melody flowing through the corridors during the "first hour" indicated practice for the 61-voice mixed chorus was in session.

Debut time came with the County Music Festival, as they presented "Jacob's Ladder" and the inspirational "One God" and "Where In The World". Winning a bronze emblem at the State Chapter contest, the chapter entered the National contest and there received a superior rating—good proof of their ability to translate learning into doing.

FFA's social activity provided "learning to live" and "living to serve". Greenhand initiation, the Farmers' and Farmers Wives' party, and a trip to the International Livestock Exposition were a part; but more important, they fulfilled their fourth goal by ridding the area of destructive animals in their pest contest, and again they sponsored the Fifth Annual Thanksgiving Program.

PRESENTING

"QUIET SUMMER"

Sonny (R. Corson) informs his bewildered Unc' (P. Moser) as to who is boss.

"Say, Unc, ya haven't got much of a grip." And so lawyer James Clark met his teenager niece and nephew. "Quiet Summer" audience alternately laughed and gasped at Pam and Sonny as they taught their "Unc" how to relax. They nearly wrecked James' hopes for being re-elected president of his country club, and Helen Jameson, his understanding secretary-girl-friend, tipped off by Sonny, watched amusedly. It all ended in an election victory, nevertheless, and that's the Central seniors' way of producing a hit play!

Queen Carol poses after receiving the crown and roses.

Saturday, December 15, at the Berne-A.C. basketball game, was held the coronation of Cen-Trails' king and queen. An evening of deep, dark secrets, curiosities labored overtime, far not even the court knew just who the king and queen would be. As the procession began between halves of the second team's battle, the junior attendants, bearing the crown and roses, preceded the five couples across the gym floor and onto the stage. It was decorated with a stone wall backing, a rose arbor with pine boughs and paper roses entwined on it, and a Cen-Trails King and Queen sign above the arbor.

In the new way of announcing the names, the crownbearer, Linda Rich, presented the crown to the king, who in turn led the queen to her place, surrounded by the court. The queen then received a bouquet of roses from the junior attendant, Ronnie Steury.

Farmer takes a wife

Clubs from two of Central's vocational departments, the FFA and Rekamemoh groups, blossomed in "hayseed" attire November 16, in the gymnasium for their annual joint party.

Choosing the farmer and farmer's wife couple was the topic of the hour, for each girl was dressed as an oldtime farm wife, and each boy as a farmer, complete with sun bonnets and battered straw hats.

Miss Phyllis Woods and Miss Madge Cornett chose the couple; though it was Date Night for the clubs, the costumed clubbers were judged separately. Mrs. Ellis and Mr. Watson, respectively, are Rekamemoh and FFA sponsors.

Mabel Steffen, and Richard Hirschy are crowned "Farmer and Farmer's Wife" by Miss Madge Cornett and Miss Phyllis Wood. Mable received a steel skillet and Richard, a 2-gallon bucket.

The group paraded around the gym for judging. Pictured are Lois Steury, Larry Funk, and Philip Gerber.

GRADE STUDENTS ABSENT ON "PICTURE DAY"

A. C.'s Highlights of 1956-57

AUGUST

Aug. 24—First full day of school—What a mixed up rush! Everyone going somewhere, but—oh—which way to go?... and assignments already?

SEPTEMBER

Sept. 15—Entering the Berne Harvest Jubilee along with seven other bands, we placed first, and received $75 as the award.

Sept. 28—Work on the new cafeteria was getting a start.

OCTOBER

Oct. 3—Student council met to decide the "green freshmen's" initiation. (Paar Kids!)

Oct. 10—The day finally arrived for the expectant freshmen. Laden with jewels, hair ribbons, odd shoes, and onions around their necks, their initiation was in progress.

Oct. 12—E.I.C. cross country meet was held at the Decatur Golf Course, with seven of A.C.'s students participating.

Oct. 19—"Quiet Summer," the Senior class play, turned out to be anything but quiet.

Oct. 25—Vacation for us—Hurrah!—It was Teachers Institute.

NOVEMBER

Nov. 6—The "Mock" school election for president was held... Eisenhower won by quite a majority.

Nov. 12—Round and round and down you go! About 200 pupils attended the Senior skating party at Bells Rink.

Nov. 21—FFA put on our annual Thanksgiving program and distributed food baskets.

Nov. 22—Get out the Pepto Bismal! Thanksgiving vacation.

Nov. 24—Guys and gals came dressed as farmers and their wives, for the Rekamemoh and FFA party in the gym.

Nov. 29—The county music festival consisting of about 200 blending chorale voices and 200 band members from five of the county schools, was performed here in the evening after an all-day practice together.

Oct. 19

DECEMBER

- Dec. 15—A big night! The Greyhounds were defeated in a hard fought battle by the Berne Bears. It also was the eve of the Cen-trails King and Queen Coronation.
- Dec. 17—An operetta, "Merry Christmas, Mr. Snowman," was presented by grades 1-6 for the entire school in the afternoon and for the PTA meeting at night.
- Dec. 21—"Glory To God" was presented by the Speech class for our Christmas program. And also—Christmas vacation began—a time to remove our noses from the grindstone.

JANUARY

- Jan. 2—Back to school again in the New Year. We "resolved" to study hard for finals.
- Jan. 3—The new chairs came at last, for the English and History rooms.

FEBRUARY

- Feb. 1—"Don Arnold Day" came to a close with about $1500 contributed by the Adams Central community and friends of our former coach, Don Arnold, whose wife was stricken with polio in August, 1956.
- Feb. 27-28-30—Adams Central played host to all the county teams in the annual Sectional tourney event.

MARCH

- Mar. 10—About 38 FFA boys participated in the county crops and poultry judging contest.

APRIL

- Apr. 5—With many weeks of busy preparation, finally t'was time for the opening of the curtain on the Junior Class play.
- Apr. 18—The new track field open for the county track meet.
- Apr. 18—Spring vacation at last—Now came time for those afflicted with "spring fever" to recuperate.
- Apr. 19—With a guest speaker present, the FFA began their fifth annual award banquet. Winning the Dekalb award was Phil Moser, and to Wayne Byerly was presented the Chapter State Farmer's award.

MAY

- May 3—Open House gave all the grades a chance to show their accomplishments of the year.
- May 5—Forty-two happy Seniors traveled to Washington D.C. for their trip.
- May 12—Reverend Geirhart addressed the Seniors at Baccalaureate.
- May 14—Commencement for the Seniors—The book is closed upon four years of great change and adjustment. "Good luck '58"—as we march out the door . . . alumni.
- May 17—With books stacked on our arms and pencils and paper dropping here and there, we ran to our busses or to our home, for it was the end of the 1956-57 memorable school year.

Phys. Ed.

Good sportsmanship and school spirit were encouraged by sports. In sports we acquired physical fitness.

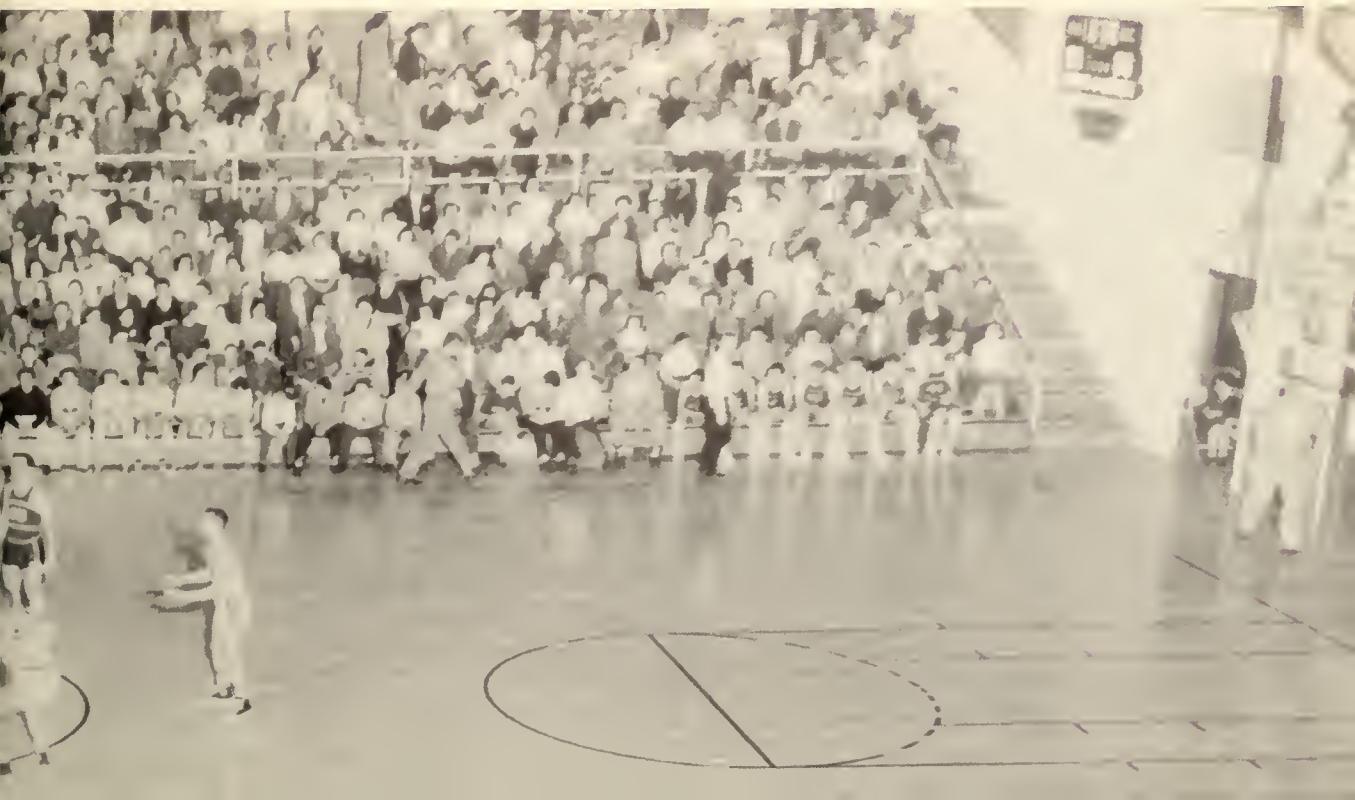

Enthusiasm ran high as the cheering bloc boosted Adams Central to victory. For the pupil, Central's major sport was basketball.

Centralites also supported baseball, track, and cross-country. Intramural gave other pupils the chance to participate in sports and helped them learn to associate with others. Girls, as well as boys, could take part in intramural basketball, volleyball, badminton, and table tennis.

and defeats, our spirits remained high

Preparing for the opening of the basketball season, Coach "Red" Cable, drilled twelve boys for the first team.

The Red and Grey played on 18 game schedule plus the county and sectional tournaments. During the middle of the season, J. M. Steiner broke the school's record by collecting 30 points.

In their first game, the Greyhounds dropped a hard fought duel to Geneva, in a "sudden death" double-overtime.

The Greyhounds defeathered the Monmouth Eagles, 54-38, for their first victory of the season.

Central's fourth tilt turned out to be a thrill-packed double-overtime victory, downing Pleasant Mills 56-54, another double-overtime against Lancaster made three double-overtimes in five games.

Entering the county tournament against Berne, Central was defeated 65-57.

Near the end of the season, Union Center fell to the Greyhounds, breaking Central's four game slump.

Yell leaders encourage cheering spirit

This year Central tried a new way of choosing cheerleaders, by having each girl try out separately. These four were chosen from fifteen girls. They have done a grand job keeping the cheering in the Pep Club at a high pitch, and helping boost the team's spirit.

Outfits of the cheerleaders consisted of bright red wool bermuda skirts, white wool sweaters with a yell emblem on the back and a C on the front, touched off with a flashing red dickie.

Pepsters' rules for this season, drawn up by the cheerleaders and sponsor, were strict, setting the right goal for good sportsmanship and game attendance.

ADMINISTRATION

What makes a school: a group that organizes to learn, play, and work together?

This is Central—the people who made up “The Central Way” and decided its course. So let’s just say: “May we introduce ourselves?”

Here are the faces of the growing Central Eight Hundred. The enrollment stands at 200 high school pupils, 154 junior high, and 458 grade pupils.

Here are the men and women who guided us into the proper application of our “Central Way.”

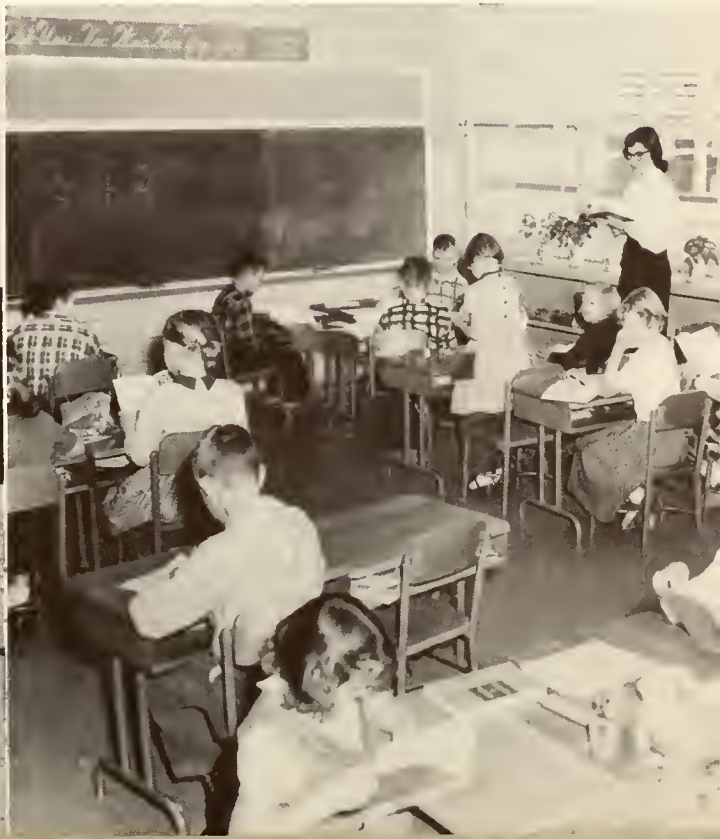

Here are the custodians, cooks, and bus drivers, who helped to keep Central a beautiful school, serve the delicious meals that kept us going through the afternoons and provided the transportation so we could come to Central from Monroe, Kirkland, and Washington townships.

Thanks to everyone who helped to make “The Central Way” possible!

This yearbook is a tribute to the class of 1957 and its sponsor; and also to what the youth of America can do today. I hope the many years that you have spent in school have prepared you for a life of service and therefore a life of happiness.

You must be prepared for a life of service because today's youth is the hope of the world. Your goal must be the "good life" and finally—peace throughout the universe.

September 1953... Fifty-two eager freshmen began their journey down the Central Way.

President, Carol Kaehr; Vice-Pres., Sam Girod; and Sec.-Treas., Tam Hoffman elected as our officers, we approached the highlight of our freshman year. Initiation!! We donned pigtails and shoe polish to pass the crucial test set up by the Student Council. With this memorable date behind us we began the long tedious days until the time when we would reign as the seniors of ACHS.

In our sophomore year, under the direction of our worthy officers. . . Mark Ripley, President; Gretchen Schnepf, Vice-Pres.; Cynthia Lehman, Sec.; and Charlie Heare, Treas.—we sold engraved stationary to the friends and members of our class. This year a spooky Halloween party roused us from the daily work of class lessons.

YOU CAN'T KISS CAROLINE was staged in our junior year, and a few weeks later the class had an evening on the tawn when we traveled to Fort Wayne to enjoy a supper and movie. The leaders of our class were Ran Carson, President; Wayne Byer-ly, Vice Pres.; Betty Steury, Sec.; and Carol Kaehr, Treas. They had a busy time conducting the magazine sales campaign.

John Fruth and Mrs. Mary Gallivan were our sponsors during the senior year and chosen as officers were Ran Carson, President; Dave Smith, Vice Pres.; Sanja Yoder, Sec.; and Gretchen Schnepf, Treas.

With a whirlwind pace set up for us, we began our Senior year selling magazines and cards, following close behind was the senior play QUIET SUMMER, the senior skating party, and the busy job of managing concessions at all home basketball games.

The last two weeks of our school years climaxed everything we had worked for when we finally left on our trip to Washington, D. C. and then returned to Central for the Baccalaureate. Our final footsteps on the Central Way took place when we received our diplomas at the impressive Commencement exercises.

The Juniors started this year with a big magazine campaign by outselling the Seniors. Other money-making projects were a class play and a skating party. Two class parties were held, one in the fall and one in the spring. The '58 class was proud to have one of the county's top track stars, Phil Barger, to represent them, and also, Ned Stucky received the title of Most Outstanding Citizen.
